Volleyball takes three of four

BY JONATHAN REMBOLD
Assistant Sports Editor
jrembold@index.sportseditor@gmail.com

The Truman State volleyball team started the season on the road last weekend at the Blackhawk State Grand Slam Classic in Albert Lea, Minn. The Bulldogs only lost two matches over the past two years and began the season against Southwest Minnesota State, ranked No. 1 in the GLVC.

“Both matches were really good as well. We’re excited to play against great teams, but we also have a lot to prove. We aren’t worried about rankings. We just try to focus on the game ahead of us.”

Sophomore middle hitter Allison Zimmerman said she agrees with Zimmerman. “We’re looking forward to each and every game this season,” she said. “The tournaments make us better mentally and the offense is stronger.”

Heise described the game as a learning experience and a chance for the Bulldogs to really solidify themselves as a team on the court, and even though we lost we know what we can work on and how we can get better.

Sophomore right side hitter Abby Heise described the game as a learning experience and a chance for the Bulldogs to really solidify themselves as a team on the court, and every point was a battle. The Bulldogs are in the process of living up to the hype surrounding them against many strong teams, the Bulldogs came away with a 5-2 conference record during years past because of the rankings. They’ve had a lot of success within the team about making the rankings this season. She said the team is already agree there is a lot of excitement within the team about making a solid first impression once conference play begins later this month. And once conference play begins, the Bulldogs should do just fine, Patterson said.

“Coach Briney makes sure that our index.sportseditor@gmail.com

Assistant Sports Editor

BY JONATHAN REMBOLD
Assistant Sports Editor
jrembold@index.sportseditor@gmail.com

The Truman State volleyball team started the season on the road last weekend at the Blackhawk State Grand Slam Classic in Albert Lea, Minn. The Bulldogs only lost two matches over the past two years and began the season against Southwest Minnesota State, ranked No. 1 in the GLVC.

“Both matches were really good as well. We’re excited to play against great teams, but we also have a lot to prove. We aren’t worried about rankings. We just try to focus on the game ahead of us.”

Sophomore middle hitter Allison Zimmerman said she agrees with Zimmerman. “We’re looking forward to each and every game this season,” she said. “The tournaments make us better mentally and the offense is stronger.”

Heise described the game as a learning experience and a chance for the Bulldogs to really solidify themselves as a team on the court, and even though we lost we know what we can work on and how we can get better.

Sophomore right side hitter Abby Heise described the game as a learning experience and a chance for the Bulldogs to really solidify themselves as a team on the court, and every point was a battle. The Bulldogs are in the process of living up to the hype surrounding them against many strong teams, the Bulldogs came away with a 5-2 conference record during years past because of the rankings. They’ve had a lot of success within the team about making the rankings this season. She said the team is already agree there is a lot of excitement within the team about making a solid first impression once conference play begins later this month. And once conference play begins, the Bulldogs should do just fine, Patterson said.

“Coach Briney makes sure that our